COAL MEN WIN CASE BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

Can Receive Cars When Able to Load Them in 24 Hours

FOLLOW ORDER OF I. C. S.

D. M. McCloskey, Esq., attorney for the Independent Coal Shippers Association, has received from the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania a copy of its decision with respect to the open top car situation, in which the wagon mine operators are so vitally interested, and which proved a victory for them.

The case was presented to the Commission some time ago, shortly after the promulgation of the order which prohibited the placing of cars for wagon mines unless they had some arrangement whereby they would be able to load cars, either by trolley or some other device. Testimony was presented both by the operators from this district, as well as those from Fayette county, who were represented by Mr. Dumbauld. No arguments were made by attorneys representing the coal men, they believing that such a proceeding was unnecessary, in view of the order issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission under date of September 16, 1920. This order was as follows, superseding one of August 25, issued by the same body.

It is ordered that from and after September 19, 1920, and until the further order of the Commission, that common carriers hereinbefore described be, and they are hereby authorized and directed to establish and observe the following rule, and shall be governed thereby in the supply and distribution of open top cars to wagon mines.

"Upon any day when a common carrier by railroad is unable to supply any mine upon its line with the required number of open top cars, open top cars shall not be furnished or supplied by it to any other mine which customarily does not load or is unable to load open top cars with coal within 24 hours from and after the time of placement for loading by the carrier, until all other mines have been fully supplied with open top cars."

In effect this order means that when cars are scarce wagon mines must load cars within 24 hours after placement; otherwise they will not be placed for them. When open top cars are plentiful the usual order of supply and demand will prevail.

Mr. McCloskey has advised his clients to apply for placement of cars for delivery of coal to interstate points, as it is his opinion that a failure on the part of the railroad company to place such cars renders them liable for unlawful discrimination. The Public Service Commission has accepted the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission and advised all roads within the state to comply therewith.

RECOMMENDS PROSECUTION OF AUTOMOBILE DRIVER

The coroner's jury investigating at Roscoe on Thursday the death of Duncan Mathewson, aged 20, of Elco, who was fatally injured by a fall from a moving automobile last Sunday morning, returned a verdict of accidental death. It developed during the inquest that John Cairns the driver of the car from which Mathewson fell when he was injured, was intoxicated at the time, and it was recommended that Cairns be prosecuted under the state laws and that his driver's license be revoked.

DENTAL SOCIETY MET HERE ON THURSDAY

A meeting of the Washington County Dental Society was held in Charleroi on Thursday afternoon. The visiting members were entertained by the local fraternity at Oakland Park in the afternoon, where rifle and trap shooting was a feature. In the evening at 6:30 o'clock dinner was served in the banquet hall of the Elks Club, after which the members listened to an address by Dr. Leslie Waddill of Pittsburgh, whose topic was "Indications for and Against Extraction." The subject was debated at some length by members after the visiting speaker had concluded. Dr. McBurney of Washington is president of the society, and he presided at the session held yesterday. Visiting members were present from several different towns in the county.

MANY CASES OF MEASLES IN TOWN

Health officer Darby reports fifty cases of measles in town, most of which are in the vicinity of the Crest Avenue school. Forty-two homes are under quarantine, fourteen of which were placed yesterday. This morning the health officer directed that all of the children who attend from the homes on the Plate Glass premises be dismissed from school, owing to the prevalence of unsanitary conditions alleged to be prevailing there. These children, by his direction, are also to be excluded from moving picture shows and from all entertainments until the ban is lifted.

ACCUSED DONORA MAN MAY BE DEPORTED

Andy Penko, suspected of Bolshevistic tendencies and seditious actions in Donora, was interrogated by Department of Justice officials on Tuesday, and further evidence that he is one who has been implicated in the spreading of seditious literature in this section was secured. The Federal authorities believe that sufficient evidence is at hand to deport the man, but they do not wish to take such action at this time, believing that others will be taken in the dragnet, now spread.

Constable Charles E. Titus, of Donora, has also made information against Penko, charging him with violation of the state sedition act of 1919. If the evidence offered against him is sufficiently strong he will be held for court.

INTERESTING MEETING OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary Society of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church held an interesting meeting on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the church. The devotional part of the program was taken by Mrs. C. M. Allen. Mrs. Pfelehardt, the president, gave a map review of The Near East that was in keeping with the new study book. The study was under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Stahlman, who read a magazine article introducing her book, which was a striking picture of the capture of Jerusalem by the English under General Allenby. Turkish preparations and part in the defense was discussed by Mrs. Earl Piper, who gave a word picture of the Turkish people. Persian life was presented by Mrs. G. M. Stewart, whose clear presentation was enjoyed by all. Special music was furnished in duet form by Mrs. Harry Lovstuter and Mrs. John F. Clutter, accompanied by Miss Bethel Bowman. The lands in general and the changes taking place were described by Mrs. William Parks. The Home Extension Reception and social hour was much enjoyed by the large assembly present, and the hostesses furnished lunch.

TO OPERATE THE MAPLETOWN COAL

The Sandy Run Coal company of Morgantown, W. Va., recently sold their coal plant and 300 acres of the Mapletown vein of coal, in Monongahela township, Greene county, to B. F. Gabler, of Greensboro. Mr. Gabler has since sold the plant and holdings to Dr. Wilbur J. Hawkins of Millsboro, Dr. Butler and W. W. Hawkins of Fredericktown and others. The new company has bought 40 acres of surface from H. K. Barb and J. H. Crawford of Mapletown, and will erect houses for their employees. There is considerable activity in optioning the Mapletown vein of coal in that locality by Uniontown parties. The coal is being optioned at $250 to $300 per acre. Less than ten years ago the same coal could have been bought for $10 per acre.

BAN IS PLACED ON WHISKEY WITHDRAWAL

Withdrawal of whiskey from bonded warehouses in New York, and parts of New Jersey and parts of Pennsylvania has been stopped temporarily, Commissioner Kramer announced on Thursday in Washington. The action he said was taken to check illicit sale of liquor in the sections which have been the most troublesome to the enforcement officers.

Secrecy has surrounded the orders issued several weeks ago, and they were made public only on Thursday when the "locked doors" had been noted. The commissioner said they had bought about a great reduction in the outstanding stock of whiskey in the hands of all. Much of this quantity had been obtained under subterfuge and plain fraud, he said, and it was planned to cut off the supply as a means of checking selling. Mr. Kramer said the ban would be maintained for a while longer.

ISABELLA THOBURN CLASS HOLD MEETING

The regular meeting of the Isabella Thoburn class of the M. E. church, was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Gertrude McKenna of Crest avenue. Matters of importance pertaining to the future advancement of the class were discussed, after which a very enjoyable social hour was spent. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother and Mrs. Monte Redd. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Taylor, of Spreers, at which time a full attendance is hoped for.

ANNOUNCE NEW SCHEDULE FOR WASHINGTON CAR LINE

CARNEGIE SHIPMENTS WERE HEAVY IN SEPTEMBER

During the month of September the Carnegie Steel company transported 450,000 tons of coal from the upper pools to the by-product plant at Clairton. This tonnage is equal to over eleven million bushels of coal, and was handled by six steamboats. The Charleroi Club of the American Association of Engineers will meet in Room 2, Borough Building, Charleroi, at 8 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, October 13. At that time an organization of the Monongahela Valley chapter will be started.

DR. MARTIN WILL SPEAK ON SUNDAY

Dr. James S. Martin, general superintendent of the National Reform Association of Pittsburgh, will speak in the Charleroi Methodist church on Sabbath morning at 11 a. m., in the absence of the pastor, Rev. E. H. Greenlee, who is attending conference.

"Our National Christianity" is the subject which will be discussed by Dr. Martin, who as the leader of a prominent civic association has attained a world wide prominence not only because of the development of the National Reform Association under his direction, but because he has organized and carried into effect, three great World Christian Citizenship conferences, the last of which was held in Pittsburgh last fall.

Dr. Martin will discuss the moral problems which are now perplexing the country and what Christianity can do to solve them.

KEEPING AN EYE ON THE BIG WORLD SERIES

Charleroi followers of baseball are keeping an eye on the world series of games now being played between the Cleveland team of the American League, and Brooklyn, champion of the National. Sentiment for the teams is about equally divided, but with a desire to see the best team win. The team winning five games out of the series will win the world championship.

CORONER WILL HOLD INQUEST NEXT WEEK

Coroner Greenlee will hold an inquest next Wednesday to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the accident which resulted later in the death of Harold Fitzmaurice.

COX CONFOUNDS HIS PARTY.

Speaking at Butte, Montana, Mr. Cox declared: "Wherever you show me a radical movement, I will show you a government that has been unjust and oppressive." Very well. There has been a radical movement in the United States for the past three years. The Democratic party has had control of the government for seven years. Has the Democratic party given us an administration that is "unjust and oppressive?"

CHEERING UP.

You notice, don't you, that Liberty Bonds go up in value as the election of a Republican administration becomes more certain and more near in time. Getting the Government back on a basis of efficiency and economy will help the credit of the Government just as an individual's credit is helped by energy and thrift.

PARSIMONIOUS PREXY.

Out of his seven years of annual salary of $75,000 and $25,000 expense fund, to say nothing of his enormous royalties on the sale of his books, President Wilson contributed $500 to the Cox campaign fund. If all other Democrats are contributing according to their means in the same proportion, there is no wonder that the campaign chest is empty.

The professional sport is to retain its present hold on the affections of the public, the American League will have to purge itself of the rottenness uncovered in Chicago. Who will want to see a game if it is suspected that it may be "thrown" for money?

Though they are not very numerous, the wealth of the American Indians is estimated at $900,000,000. The appropriating white man left them in possession of that much, anyhow.

A WOMAN'S SOUL BARED

Mrs. Asquith, Wife of Former British Premier, Tells Tales Out of School.

When William Watson, the famed poet wrote, "The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue," it was Margot Tennant Asquith he wrote about. As wife of the then Prime Minister of Great Britain, Mrs. Asquith acquired a knowledge of men and things that was denied to other women. Her "petticoat government" forced a crisis in the British Navy, and she was the "power behind the throne" in many other instances.

Now Mrs. Asquith has arrived at the conclusion that she is and has been a much mis-understood woman. Happily, during her entire public career (and it was a public career) she kept a diary. Recently she concluded to give the contents of that diary to the public. England already has read what she had to say. Pittsburgh is to be next. The Pittsburgh Dispatch has arranged for the entire diary and beginning next Sunday, October 10, there will appear for 14 consecutive weeks a liberal installment of all the things Mrs. Asquith wrote.

Contained in the diary are matters of state, love, intrigue, and common politics. The writer, whose pen might best be described as "virginal," snarls no one. She knew well Gladstone, Edward VII, Roseberry, Balfour, Randolph Churchill, Kitchener, Lord Roberts and a host of other world famous figures. And she knows whereof she writes.

No matter whether you are of British origin or not, you will be interested. This being the case it is best to "play safe" and order your copy of next Sunday's Dispatch in advance. 106-11

Rust Aids Zinc Industry.

The inevitable rusting of steel may be justly claimed to be the mainstay of the zinc industry, as 60 per cent of the metallic zinc used in the United States is for galvanizing iron and steel articles, representing an annual outlay of $20,000,000 in an endeavor to protect metals from decay. Enormous amounts of paint are used in a like endeavor. About 5,000,000 tons of coal are needed in the production of steel to replace the annual waste and 1,000,000 more for replacing the zinc that is annually lost. No estimate can be made of the value of the brass, bronze, copper, aluminum, nickel, tin and other metals and alloys used in machine parts, as sheathing, for plating, etc., to protect steel, or as a substitute for it in places where it would be used, but for its lack of resistance to atmospheric attacks.

San Francisco Founded by Spaniards.

A fact little known is that the city of San Francisco was founded by a Spanish officer from the Arizona presidio of Tubac. In the Santa Cruz valley, south of Tucson. He was Captain Juan Bautista de Anza. In January, 1774, he had pioneered across the desert, from Cochise to the Colorado river by way of the Camino del Diablo (Road of the Devil), then visiting Monterey. In October, 1775, by a direct command of the Spanish viceroy, he started again for Tubac, with 240 people and much livestock, destined for the foundation of a presidio and mission on the great bay that had been found by Portola in 1769. Anza took the Gila route as the safer, forded the Colorado near the Gila's mouth a month later and, with an advance party, on March 28, 1776, established the presidio of San Francisco on the Golden Gate.

Geographic Changes.

Among the most fascinating problems with which a geologist has to deal are those connected with paleogeography. The upheavals and disturbances that affected the earth's crust in the geologic past shifted the boundaries between land and mountain, plain, just as in historic time political boundaries and conditions have been changed by the violence of war and the more quiet forces of peace. A map of the ancient world would have recorded great changes from period to period and minor changes much more frequently. Many of these geographic changes are clearly recorded in the character of the sediments that now form the rocks and in the nature of the fossil animals and plants that the rocks contain.

Where Faith Won Out.

Columbus and Galileo were denounced as cranks when they announced their theories to the world. Columbus was laughed at. The American military authorities refused to buy the Lewis machine gun, when the inventor, an American, offered it to the government. He later sold it to the British and everyone knows what an important part it played in the war. Cyrus Field tried to lay the Atlantic cable a dozen years before he was finally successful. Alexander G. Bell of Boston didn't lose faith when he had spent his last dollar experimenting with the telephone. Edison made hundreds of experiments before he perfected the incandescent electric light. —Boston Post.

Three Miles of Marble Caves.

Amid the wilds of southwestern Oregon, almost unknown to the world at large, is situated a series of underground chambers and passages remarkable for their size and for the beauty and unusual character of their decorations. Within the last few years they have been made a national monument, and are now known as the Marble Caves of Oregon. The caves consist of three miles and a half of marble passages and grottoes, ranging from one story to four or five stories in height. In places the connecting corridors are so low that one must crawl on all fours for a considerable distance. Elsewhere the chambers are so large that the opposite walls and ceilings are scarcely visible in the dim candlelight. The largest measures more than 300 feet high.

English in Irish Idiom.

An interesting example of a time Irish idiom is contained in a report of a meeting of a "traders' association" in the south of Ireland. "We are and cattle to London by boat," said one speaker, "and while they are going up the Thames, the worst of us in Antwerp." This may be an untranslatable to the English reader, but every Irishman would regard it as a most intelligent statement, that "in the time consumed in taking the cattle to the Thames to London they might have reached Antwerp," and would regard this alternative phrasing as a time-wasting periphrase. —Manchester Guardian.

Egyptian Dogs.

To the Egyptians dogs were much more than either assistants in the chase or household pets. They were objects of veneration and worship. They appear in the friezes of the temples, and were regarded as divine emblems. Herodotus tells us that when a dog belonging to an Egyptian family died, the members of the household shaved themselves as an expression of their grief and adds that this was the custom in his own day. The dog is the one animal which can follow man all over the earth and adapt himself to every climate and every use to which his master chooses to put him. —Ernest H. Barnes in National Geographic Magazine.

"Lodestone" a Mystery.

One of the most fantastic stories of the "Arabian Nights" is of a mountain of "lodestone" which draws the nails out of any ship that may approach it, causing the doomed craft to fall to pieces. It is to be presumed that this remarkable tale finds its germ in the accidental observation of the attraction of iron by pieces of magnetic iron ore. Why is magnetic ore magnetic? Only now and then is iron ore found that possesses this strange property. It is so exceptional that collectors of minerals are always searching for fragments of the material known in earlier days as "lodestone."

Arizona's Early History.

In October, 1846, Gen. Stephen Kearney led a column of dragoons down the Gila river and helped add California to the union. Following Kearney's expedition was the march of the famous Mormon battalion from Missouri to San Diego. This remarkable column entered Arizona not far from the present site of Douglas, and passed westward through Tucson and the Prima villages and down the Gila river. Tucson was captured peacefully, though not held. The peace treaty with Mexico set the Gila on the southern boundary of the United States, and there was a survey upon that line in 1848. Maj. William H. Emory later established the present boundary under the terms of the Gadsden purchase.

Useless Knowledge.

Old schemes of education incarnated in public schools and colleges, continue filling the heads of new generations with what has become relatively useless knowledge, and, by consequence, excluding knowledge which is useful. Not an organization of any kind—political, religious, literary, philanthropic—but what, by its ever-multiplying regulations, its accumulating wealth, its yearly addition of officers, and the creeping into it of patronage and party feeling, eventually loses its original spirit and sinks into a more lifeless mechanism, worked with a view to private ends—a mechanism which not merely fails of its purpose, but is a positive hindrance to it. —Herbert Spencer.

Child's Last Resort.

"When I die," inquired a second Bibbs, "may I take my best doll with me to heaven?" The question was diplomatically answered—so the answerer thought, but all was of no avail. "Then, may I take my second best doll to heaven?" Arguments used before, in disfavor of all such ideas, were repeated and reinforced, but who can argue with a child? "Oh, well," said she, resignedly, "I s'pose that when I die I shall have to go somewhere else and take my gollywog." —London Morning Post.
